Why Retreat?

We all need to get away from the daily routine sometimes. Maybe it is to re-charge our batteries, perhaps there is a book we need to read, it might be an article or presentation we need to prepare. On the other hand we might simply need the time and space to chill out, reflect on life or make decisions.

Sometimes a couple of days away can make all the difference. We see things in a different perspective and a situation that is causing us stress becomes much easier to face and deal with.

It may be that it is difficult to create family time together, booking a short retreat means there is time and space set aside to do just that.

Whatever your reason Barnes Close could be the place for your retreat.
